

Economic Inquiry (EI) is pleased to announce an upcoming special symposia on Contemporary Banking Research. The symposia is to coincide with a conference on the topic i.e., the 12th Edition of the Swiss Winter Conference on Financial Intermediation taking place in Lenzerheide on March 31 - April 3, 2019. Papers are welcomed from researchers-at-large as well as participants at the conference.

Since the Financial Crisis, many new methodologies and topics have been introduced in the theoretical and empirical banking literature, and this Conference as well as the Symposia to be published in Economic Inquiry aims to be at the frontier of these developments.

All papers related to banking, and financial intermediation more generally, will be considered, especially if they relate to post crisis policy questions.

Conference Editors:

Steven Ongena, University of Zurich, SFI, KU Leuven & CEPR and EI Co-editor
Wesley W. Wilson, University of Oregon and EI Editor

Submission Due Date:

Submissions are due no later than June 1, 2019.

Submission Process:

Please follow the standard Economic Inquiry submission procedures and note that you would like your submission to be considered for the Contemporary Banking Research Conference Issue coedited by Steven Ongena and Wesley W. Wilson. Instructions are available at: <http://www.weai.org/Submission-Instructions>. Also, please see the editor's statement at: <http://www.weai.org/EIEditorsStatement>.